COURSE OBJECTIVES
1) To introduce students to the academic disciplines of historical and cultural geography
2) To provide geographic, historical, and environmental background on the heritage of the United States and Canada
3) To illustrate examples of viewing landscape changes through time.
4) To supply future classroom teachers with content ideas for geography, history, and social studies classes.
COURSE COVERAGE: Historical-Cultural Geography is a regional and topical analysis of North America through selected time periods. Discussions focus on the physical environment, exploration and mapping settlement patterns, population and migration, ethnic diversity, agriculture, cultural and economic systems, resource utilization, urbanization, transportation, and current issues that resulted from these historic processes. Course content is presented in a set of twelve topics. The required textbook, is for sale at the University bookstore and provides a starting point for class discussions and exercises for each topic listed below. (The book may also be obtained from Amazon.com or Barnes & Noble)

BOOKS FOR BOOK REVIEWS (select one): Mitchner, J. Centennial, Texas, Hawaii, Alaska, Chesapeake or other works of American historical fiction as agreed upon with instructor. Click here for more information about the book review assignment. Another option is an historical landscapes related film review.

SELECTED BIBLIOGRAPHY: A list of survey works dealing with the course content may be found in a course bibliography. These works are supposed to be in the library general collection and are probably in other university libraries.
ANNOTATED LIST OF WWW LINKS is a list of links representing a brief sampling of sources of information related to the study of the historical geography of the United States and Canada. The list is categorized by some basic themes, concepts, and methods of inquiry. The list is by no means comprehensive; however, it does represent the results of numerous web searches on the subject. Many of the sites on the list are from universities, libraries, and museums, and normally contain source references to the material presented. Other sites on the list are from individuals or organizations that sometimes don't provide source information. Consider the source when citing information presented on the web.

Basic Questions Guiding the Course:
1) Who are Americans and Canadians -what are the specific sources of our identity as distinct nations of people? (environmental influences, ethnic and religious background, political ideals, economic practices, social systems, etc.)

2) What processes, physical, cultural, economic and political, have molded the present landscape? What are evidences of these processes and patterns today?
3) How do historical and cultural geographers contribute to applied geography to solve “real world” problems?

4) What may be predicted for the futures of the United States and Canada based on their cultural, economic, political and historical-geographic experiences?

For prospective teachers: This course is particularly recommended for those students (Geog 571) who are considering teaching in K-12 schools and for those majoring in related fields such as history, anthropology, social sciences, liberal studies or historic preservation.

PLAGIARISM POLICY

This link is to: "Avoiding Plagiarism- A Guide for Students" http://libweb.uoregon.edu/guides/plagiarism/students/ It was last revised 24 April 2006.

This quote is from the Office of Student Life’s Academic Dishonesty Policy: "Plagiarism is the inclusion of someone else's product, words, ideas, or data as one's own work. When a student submits work for credit that includes the product, words, ideas, or data of others, the source must be acknowledged by the use of complete, accurate, and specific references, such as footnotes. Expectations may vary slightly among disciplines. By placing one's name on work submitted for credit, the student certifies the originality of all work not otherwise identified by appropriate acknowledgments. On written assignments, if verbatim statements are included, the statements must be enclosed by quotation marks or set off from regular text as identified extracts."

Unauthorized collaboration with others on papers or projects can inadvertently lead to a charge of plagiarism. If in doubt, consult the instructor or seek assistance from the staff of Academic Learning Services (68 PLC, 346-3226). In addition, it is plagiarism to submit work, as your own any academic exercise (for example. Written work, printing, computer program, art or design work, musical composition, and choreography) prepared totally or in part by another.

Plagiarism also includes submitting work in which portions were substantially produced by someone acting as a tutor or editor.
