

Geomorphology

Course Information:

June 23-July 20

Monday - Thursday

1-3:50 pm

Instructor:

Helen Beeson

Office: 105 Condon

hbeeson@uoregon.edu

Geomorphology is the study of landforms on the surface of the Earth and the processes that shape them over time. This course will cover tectonic forces, volcanic landforms, weathering, hillslope processes, rivers, glaciers and periglacial landscapes, aeolian (wind) geomorphology, and coastal geomorphology. Lectures will be broken up by in-class labs and one or two field trips near campus, and one day trip to the coast will be offered outside of class time.