History of Interior Architecture II

This course offers a critical overview of the historical interior spaces in relation to their social, political, and cultural contexts and as the results of visions, necessities, and technical advancements. As the second in a series of three courses, History of Interior Architecture II will mainly focus on traditions from the seventeenth-century Baroque to the nineteenth-century industrialization in Europe. In addition to the major European powers of this period, we will visit some of their colonies, such as America, India, and Egypt, and explore their exchange of architectural ideas. We will explore a variety of building types to underline the role of the interior space in shaping and reflecting the everyday experience. Along with the lectures, we will have thematic readings/discussions.
