

C For Communication

Logan, Darina, Julia, Emma, Zak

C for communication is an exhibition of the passage of time and poor communication. We shared our own individual projects through a single text message group chat. The final exhibition is a collage of our work laid out in a single 8.5in by 121in page.

some digital art i've been working on! :)

Quarantine has made me an unmotivated art student that doodles on Snapchat and has no sleep schedule

I've been taking photos and going surfing!!

I've been really bored so I've been experimenting with pop art style drawing!

Now I act like I'm drawing on Snapchat even when I'm not on Snapchat here's a random sketch i did. don't know why i've been focusing so much on space stuff but 🤔

His claws grasp at trash
Searching for a bite to eat
To find fulfillment

The snake finds a hole
Into the hole he travels
The end of a life

Feet in the water
A crab beckons me to come
A crustacean dream

Dwayne the rock Johnson
All he can say "you're welcome"
Now he cannot speak

A warm sunshine place
Insects crawling through the grass
Spring is upon us

The heart of a tree
Leaves are falling in the wind
The smell of black smoke

Social distancing makes me feel too many emotions to process and use too many emojis

I played around with After Effects for the first time idek what this is lmao so this is a little bit weird and kinda creepy but i got really anxious really late at night and made this
