How to add an Ethnographic Video Online film to Canvas:

Ethnographic Video Online is a streaming video service that the University of Oregon Libraries has licensed. This collection of classic and contemporary ethnographic documentaries is a comprehensive resource for the study of human culture and behavior. It covers every region of the world and features the work of many of the most influential documentary filmmakers of the 20th century, including interviews, previously unreleased raw footage, field notes, study guides, and more. This is a great way to “flip” your classroom; students watch pertinent videos at their convenience, saving scarce, valuable classroom time for lecture and discussion.

Films, documentaries and more information on Ethnographic Video Online’s Streaming Service can be found here: http://search.alexanderstreet.com/anth

To link a video in Canvas:

1. Select your film or documentary from Ethnographic Video Online.

2. Below the video, click the Embed/Link button. A pop-up window will appear with the URL we need for the link (highlighted below). Make sure you click on the first URL on top, labeled “Permanent link to [your video],” and not the second “Embed code” link.

3. Log into Canvas, go to your course and the assignment, discussion, quiz, or page that you would like to add your video to. You can link an Ethnographic Video Online video into any Canvas tool with a rich text editor.
4. Select Edit.

5. To link the video, enter a title for the video in the main text box. Then, select the title and click the Link to URL button (looks like chain links).

6. In the Link to Website URL box, paste the link that you copied earlier. Click Insert Link.

7. Click the blue Save button and you will have a page with your video title as a link to the new window in which your video will open and play. This enables both on and off-campus viewing. You can now finish editing your assignment, discussion, quiz, or page and add any further instructions directly into the rich text editor without affecting the video.
