

Parents, does your child have challenging behavior?

Are you familiar with Positive Behavior Support?
Do you practice it?

Please join our online focus group. IRIS Educational Media is holding an online focus group to understand how parents use Positive Behavior Support at home and in the community. Please join our group to share your thoughts and experiences.

This focus group is part of an NIH grant funded research study*. We will be asking questions to help refine an interactive online support program.

Who should attend?

Parents who meet certain screening criteria and have the ability to attend a focus group via Google Hangout on your computer or phone.

When?

April 26, 2016 from 6:30 – 8:00pm Eastern Time

Parents will receive $75 for participation in the focus group.

Interested parents can find out if they are eligible by going to this link:
