

Week 10

This week, I made a video of my experience with learning 3D printing this term. You can view the view here:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=C1wK47k6fWs>

Throughout the term, I had been collecting small videos of the 3D printing process and wanted to do something more with them than just putting them on my Instagram account. I had a really great time creating this video. It's mainly for my own amusement, but I do feel that it shows my process rather well.