

Cell Phone Activities

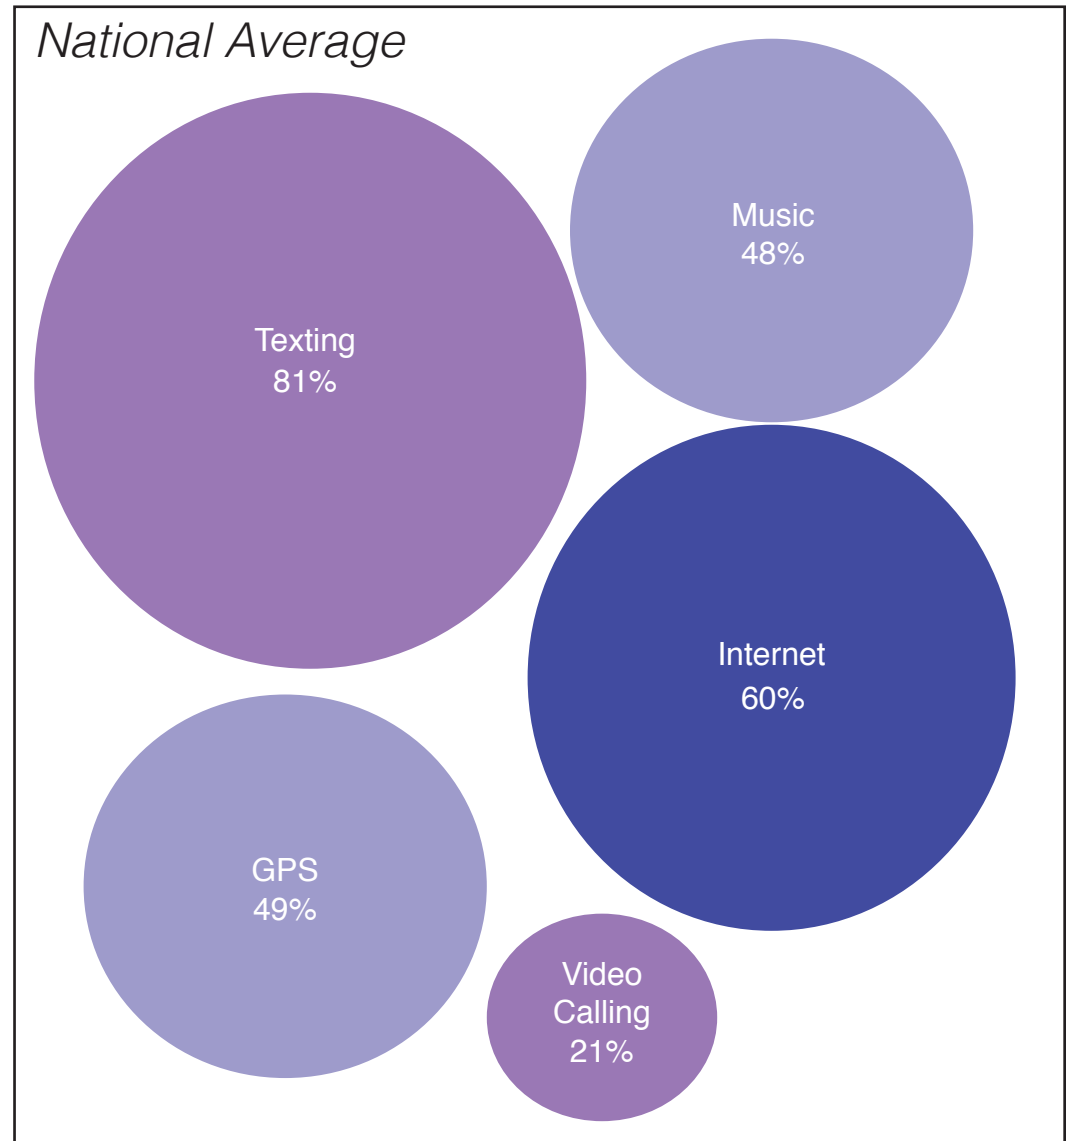

by Nicole Seybold

Growing Trends

We live in a world where we use our mobile devices for just about anything and everything. I use my phone to text my teammates and friends, listen to music whenever I get the chance, and video chat with my family from across the country.

National Average

The information shown above was found from the Pew Research Center. The study was conducted among 2,252 adults ages 18 and older.