

University of Oregon Women in Graduate Sciences hosts Eleventh Annual Generations Luncheon

This event provides a unique opportunity for women in STEM disciplines to meet and share their experiences with the future generation of women scientists.

Tuesday, July 2nd, 2019

12:00 pm - 2:00pm

Lee Barlow Giustina Ballroom, Ford Alumni Center
University of Oregon

Keynote Address by Barbara McManus

Director for Research & Development for HP, Inc., leading expert on the analog to digital transformation for publishing and packing printing markets

Please RSVP by June 25th, 2019 at blogs.uoregon.edu/uowgs/

Women at every level of the science career ladder will be in attendance, including professional and academic scientists, graduate students, undergraduate science majors, and high school students.

Questions? contact Michelle Massaquoi (msconce@uoregon.edu)